Appleby Hunter Bailhache delivers paperless invoices with BillFiler from Timeframe

Sydney, Australia and Hamilton, Bermuda - In December, the Appleby's Corporate Services team delivered their first output of over 3000 paperless invoices to clients around the globe. In previous years, this had been a manual posting exercise requiring weeks of effort from finance staff and the firm's corporate administrators.

This year, Appleby replaced their manual process with Timeframe's BillFiler solution. "BillFiler was a natural fit for Appleby, who required a solution to reduce the cost of delivery and provide business efficiencies for faster cash flow" said Derek Giles from Timeframe.

BillFiler is an extension to the firm's practice management system (in Appleby's case Aderant CMS.Net) that allows invoices to be distributed directly from the firm's billing process, formatted in the world standard as PDF documents. While BillFiler has been designed to leverage the firm's existing bill formats, BillFiler's advanced features such as embedded watermarks, letterheads and attached terms and conditions were especially useful for the Appleby's implementation, eliminating the need for custom printed billing stationary.

BillFiler is a collaboration of best of industry technologies including the latest PDF creation technologies from DocsCorp, creators of pdfDocs and the Business Process Server. This allows Appleby to deliver pristine quality invoices in PDF format that are distributed via email. With BillFiler, Appleby achieve instant delivery of invoices while simultaneously cutting out the costs associated with the traditional postage of Invoices.

"With our recent mergers it was imperative that we deliver efficiencies for operations. BillFiler has been an intelligent response. It has been great to deliver an efficiency which is a win for all stakeholders, the response from professional staff has been very encouraging" said Daniel Penton, from Appleby Hunter Bailhache. "On a Thursday evening we pressed a button and distributed over 3000 bills to our clients.

Within hours we had already received payment authorisations. In one case, a staff member received a call first thing the following morning from a client querying the fees they had been billed the night before. While the staff member had originally been concerned that this might be considered negative feedback - this example turned out to be BillFiler's greatest achievement for us. What used to conceivably take months to process, communicate with the client, and re-process was being turned around in a single day. We are thrilled at the improved speed of communication and therefore speed of business, and we have already seen a major improvement to our cash collections as a direct result of implementing BillFiler."
